

Website: <http://www.mikiyakobayashi.com/>

Purpose of the website:

- Mikiya's design portfolio that showcases his work through strong photography and subtle animations

Contents of the website:

- A homepage with full bleed images of his work that rotate every 1-2 seconds
- As you scroll down, a grid appears with more of his work
 - Titles of each project appear when you hover over the block
- Each project has a page with detailed descriptions and images

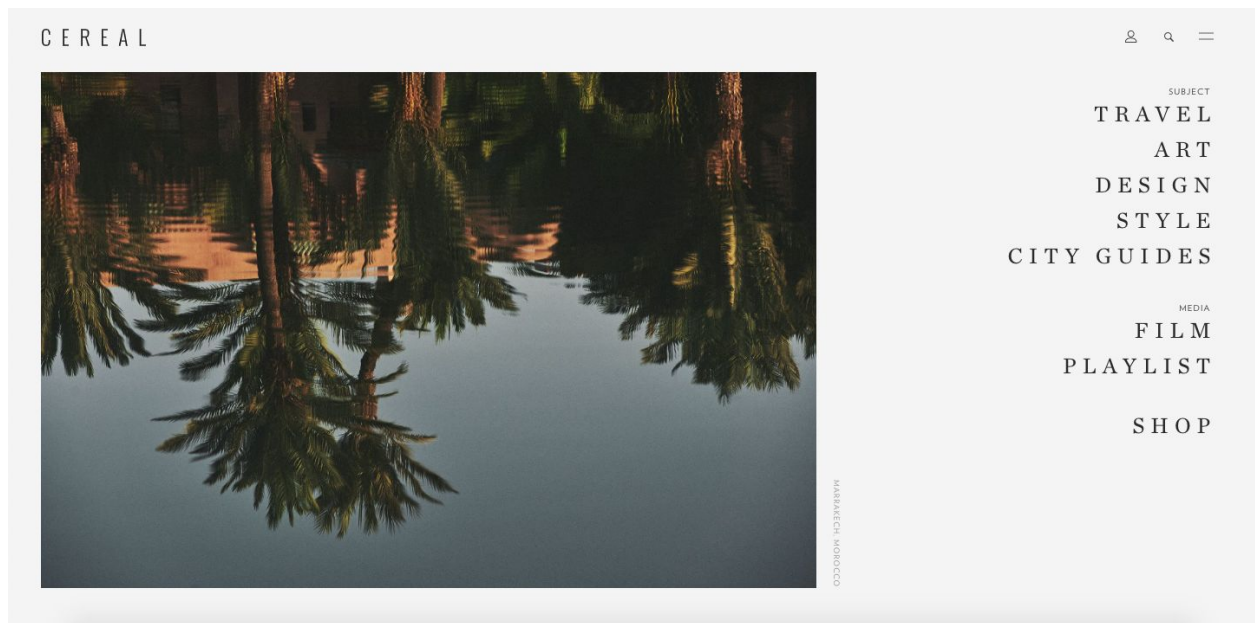

Navigation:

- A vertical menu appears when you click on the hamburger icon at the top left corner
- Accessible on all pages of the portfolio

Description of navigation:

- I think the visual representation of the navigation is clear and intuitive
- The navigation is consistent across all pages
- To return to the homepage, you can click on the artist's name at the top
- The simple navigation fits well with the designer's intention to create a minimalistic website

Website: <https://readcereal.com/>

Purpose of the website:

- Cereal magazine's website showcases travel articles and photos
- Allows people to purchase their publications and travel guides

Contents of the website:

- Homepage with different categories of articles: Travel, Art, Design, Style, City Guides
- Under each category are images and overviews of articles
- Each overview can be expanded into a full article with detailed descriptions of the location accompanied by a set of photos
- Link to the shop where you can purchase past issues of the magazine

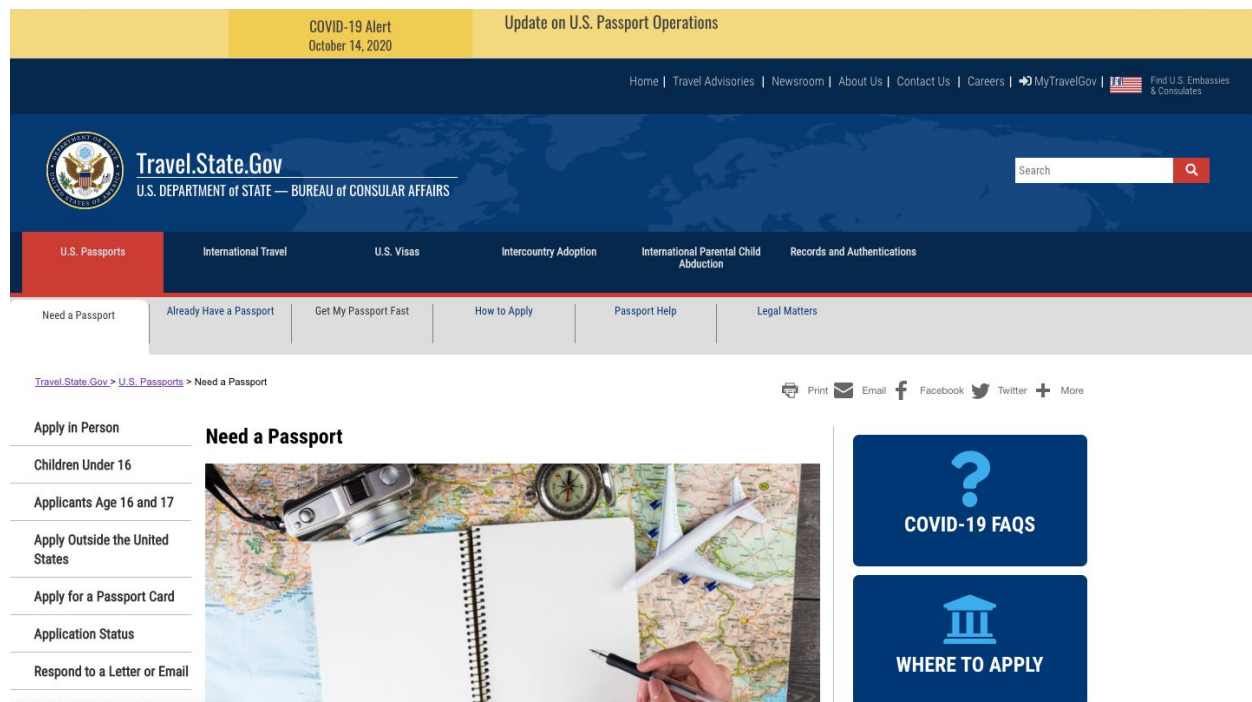

Navigation:

- A full screen menu appears when you click on the hamburger icon at the top right corner
- Accessible on all pages of the website

Description of navigation:

- The navigation is clear and not overwhelming. Visitors are able to easily understand the structure and flow of the website
- The navigation is consistent across all pages
- To return to the homepage, you can click on the logo at the top left, which is very intuitive

Website: <https://travel.state.gov/content/travel/en/passports.html>

Purpose of the website:

- Provides information regarding travel, visas and passports
- Allow people to contact the US Department of State

Contents of the website:

- Homepage with a lot of different menu bars and subcategories
- Each subcategory opens up to an interior page, which shows a vertical menu with even more subcategories
- Search bar on at the top right corner
- Link to search for US consulates and embassies
- Link to read more about the department
- Link to contact the US Department of State

Navigation:

- Two horizontal menus that display different categories
- There are secondary navigations on some, not all, of the interior pages

Description of navigation:

- The website is very overwhelming and hard to navigate
- The different types of navigation make the overall structure confusing
- Difficult to find specific information since a lot of related info is placed under different categories